DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 1,366,789 to Graham. Graham discloses a liquid-receptacle attachment with receptacle engaging projections 17, 18, and 19 that are concentric, increasing in diameter from one another (column 2, lines 82-87, FIG 3). The engaging projections, optionally including a screw ring, are sized to engage a small, medium, or large-necked bottle, as needed (column 2, lines 60-67, FIGS 2-4). Furthermore, the attachment contains an outlet opening 22, from which fluid may flow into another container (column 2, lines 104-106, FIGS 3-4).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 1,366,789 to Graham in view of US 4,614,437 to Buehler. Graham discloses the apparatus as claimed with the exception of a spike located on the attachment. Buehler discloses a mixing container and adapter with annular openings capable of engaging bottles of two different diameters (FIGS 1, 3), and a cutting sleeve 34 with an angled tip 36 for pierce seals of containers to permit mixing therebetween (column 4, lines 38-42). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to add a spike for piercing containers to allow mixing, as disclosed by Buehler, to the three-size attachment disclosed by Graham in order to permit mixing between sealed containers.

5. Claims 13 and 15-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 1,366,789 to Graham in view of US 4,614,437 to Buehler as in paragraph 4 above, in view of US 4,010,756 to DuMont et al. The modified Graham device discloses the apparatus as claimed, but does not disclose a weakened portion for breaking away the spike or needle. Break-away needles are well-known in the art, and providing a weakened portion of the needle aids in breaking the needle. DuMont discloses a needle with a weakened zone 4b to facilitate the breakage of the needle at the weakened zone (column 2, lines 41-42, 55-58, FIG 1). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to provide a weakened zone as disclosed by DuMont in the needle of the modified Graham attachment in order to facilitate easy needle breakage at a precise location, as taught by DuMont.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 7 November 2002 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's argument that Graham fails to disclose "one outlet for residual liquid" that permits fluid flow from segment to segment in the connector, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. In the instant case, the outlet disclosed by Graham traverses the segments of the connector, and is capable of providing fluid flow from segment to segment. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963).

7. In response to applicant's argument that DuMont is nonanalogous art, it has been held that a prior art reference must either be in the field of applicant's endeavor or, if not, then be reasonably pertinent to the particular problem with which the applicant was concerned, in order to be relied upon as a basis for rejection of the claimed invention. See In re Oetiker, 977 F.2d 1443, 24 USPQ2d 1443 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, the DuMont reference served to overcome the particular problem of providing a spike or needle that may be easily and quickly detached from supporting apparatus. DuMont, like the applicant, overcame the problem of detaching the needle or spike by providing a weakened portion of the needle or spike for an easy detachment point. Therefore, the applied art is appropriate and is, in fact, analogous to the problem at hand.

8. In response to applicant's argument that the examiner's conclusion of obviousness is based upon improper hindsight reasoning, it must be recognized that any judgment on obviousness is in a sense necessarily a reconstruction based upon hindsight reasoning. But so long as it takes into account only knowledge which was within the level of ordinary skill at the time the claimed invention was made, and does not include knowledge gleaned only from the applicant's disclosure, such a reconstruction is proper. See In re McLaughlin, 443 F.2d 1392, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971).

Conclusion

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
